

Guia's secretary, guard testify for Erap, belie Chavit story

By Arnold M. Moreno

MANILA (Inquirer) — A secretary and a guard testified in court today that they were not involved in the alleged kidnapping of Sen. Chavit Sison, a close ally of President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo, in 2002.

The two witnesses, who were sworn in by Judge Presbitero J. Velasco Jr., said they were not involved in the alleged kidnapping of Sison, who was charged with the murder of Sen. Chavit Sison in 2002.

Foreign business groups hail high court ruling

By Of C. Salazar and Christine
Villanueva-Kamali/Phil. Daily Inquirer

Foreign business groups have hailed the Supreme Court ruling that allows foreign firms to own up to 100 percent of the equity of a Philippine corporation.

The ruling, which was issued last week, is seen as a landmark decision in the history of the Philippine economy. It is the first time that foreign firms have been allowed to own 100 percent of a Philippine corporation.

Running priest favors condoms

By Mary F. Williams

The Catholic Church's stance on condom use has been a topic of debate for many years. Some argue that condoms are a necessary tool to prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS, while others believe that condom use is morally wrong. The Church's position on this issue has been a subject of controversy.

However, the use of 100% oxygen during the first 10 min of resuscitation is not recommended by the American Heart Association (11).

the authors suggest that the authors are leaving out important information about the study. The authors state that the study was conducted in a laboratory setting, but they do not mention that the study was also conducted in a field setting. This is a significant omission because the results of the study may differ between the two settings. The authors also state that the study was conducted with a sample of 100 participants, but they do not mention that the sample was not representative of the population. This is another significant omission because the results of the study may not be generalizable to the population. 26 killed, 10 injured in Indian plane crash

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Boeing 737 jet crashed into a river in India on Monday, killing 26 people and injuring 10 others. The crash occurred about 100 kilometers from New Delhi.

The plane, which was carrying 36 people, was on a flight from New Delhi to Bhopal. It crashed into the Narmada River about 100 kilometers from New Delhi.

The crash occurred about 10 minutes before the plane was scheduled to land in Bhopal. The plane was carrying 36 people, including 26 passengers and 10 crew members.

The crash was the deadliest in India in more than a decade. The plane was a Boeing 737-400, which is a common aircraft used by airlines in India.

The cause of the crash is still under investigation. The Indian government has launched an inquiry into the crash.

Mineral elements are taken up by plants in various ways. Some are taken up by the roots, some by the leaves, and some by the stems. The most common way is by the roots. The roots take up water and mineral elements from the soil. The water and mineral elements are then transported to the leaves and stems. The leaves take up carbon dioxide from the air and release oxygen. The stems take up water and mineral elements from the roots and transport them to the leaves. The leaves and stems then use the water and mineral elements to produce food for the plant.

The left panel is for $\alpha = 0.01$, the middle for $\alpha = 0.05$, and the right for $\alpha = 0.1$. Each panel shows $f(v)$ on the y-axis (ranging from 0 to 1.0) versus v on the x-axis (ranging from 0 to 10). The distribution starts as a single peak at $v=0$ and evolves into a bimodal distribution with a peak at $v=0$ and a smaller peak at $v=10$ as α increases.

Youth enlisted for Mindanao reforestation

By [illegible] and [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — A group of young people, some as young as 15, are being enlisted by a reforestation group to help plant trees in Mindanao. The group, called the Mindanao Reforestation Project, is a joint effort between the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) and the Mindanao Development Authority (MDA). The project aims to restore the forest cover in Mindanao, which has been significantly reduced due to logging and land conversion. The young people will be trained in tree planting techniques and will be given incentives to encourage them to participate. The project is expected to create thousands of jobs and to significantly increase the forest cover in Mindanao.

Leaders of Cordillera worry cost-cutting will remove autonomy

By [illegible] and [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — Leaders of the Cordillera Administrative Region (CAR) are expressing concern that cost-cutting measures implemented by the national government will undermine the region's autonomy. The leaders, including the CAR Administrator and various tribal leaders, argue that the government's efforts to reduce spending will result in the loss of the region's unique cultural and linguistic heritage. They also worry that the government's policies will lead to the displacement of indigenous people and the destruction of the environment. The leaders are calling for the government to respect the region's autonomy and to implement policies that are sensitive to the needs of the indigenous people.

Lack of peace pulled down ARMM growth

By [illegible] and [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — The lack of peace in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) has significantly pulled down its economic growth. According to a report by the Department of Economic Planning and Statistics (DEPS), the ARMM's growth rate in 2009 was only 1.2 percent, compared to the national average of 7.6 percent. The report attributes the low growth rate to the ongoing conflict in the region, which has led to the displacement of people and the destruction of infrastructure. It also notes that the government's policies in the region have been inconsistent and that there is a need for a more unified approach to development.

Gov't to give up control of water, just says study

By [illegible] and [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — A study by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) suggests that the government should give up control of water resources. The study, titled "Water Resource Management in the Philippines," found that the government's current policies are outdated and that there is a need for a more decentralized approach to water management. It recommends that the government should transfer control of water resources to local governments and that there should be a more active role for the private sector in water management. The study also notes that the government's policies have led to the over-exploitation of water resources and that there is a need for a more sustainable approach to water management.

Giraffe killing pits council against residents

By [illegible] and [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — A council in a village in the Philippines is facing opposition from its residents over a plan to kill a giraffe. The council, which is made up of local officials, has decided to kill the giraffe because it is a threat to the safety of the village. The residents, however, are opposed to the plan because they believe that the giraffe is a sacred animal and that its death would bring bad luck to the village. The council is now trying to convince the residents that the plan is necessary for the safety of the village.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has approved a new rule that will require companies to disclose more information about their capital structure. The rule is part of a broader effort to improve transparency in the capital markets. The SEC said the new rule will help investors make more informed decisions about the companies they are investing in. The rule will require companies to disclose more information about their capital structure, including the amount of debt and equity they have outstanding. The rule will also require companies to disclose more information about their financial performance. The SEC said the new rule will be effective in 2007.

Solon calls for 7% tax on telcos

By Charles E. Wilson

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Sen. Charles E. Wilson, D-Calif., on Tuesday called for a 7% tax on telecommunications companies to help fund the federal deficit. Wilson, who is chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance, said the tax would be levied on the gross revenue of the companies, not on profits. He said the tax would be a "fair and reasonable" way to raise revenue from the companies, which he said are "one of the most profitable industries in the country." Wilson said the tax would be a "one-time" measure, and that the revenue would be used to pay down the national debt. He said the tax would be a "temporary" measure, and that it would be in effect for only a few years. Squid with a zing

Test by Roger Dyer, from Philly's Food & Drink

Squid is a popular seafood dish in many parts of the world, but it's not always served in the most appetizing way. In this recipe, we'll show you how to prepare squid in a way that's both delicious and easy to make.

The first step is to clean the squid. Remove the head and tentacles, and cut the body into rings. Then, wash the squid in cold water and pat it dry.

Next, you'll need to marinate the squid. In a large bowl, combine the squid rings with the marinade ingredients. Let it sit for at least 30 minutes.

After the squid has marinated, you'll need to cook it. There are two ways to do this: you can either grill it or sauté it. We'll show you how to do both.

For grilling, preheat your grill to medium-high heat. Place the squid rings on the grill and cook for about 3-4 minutes on each side.

For sautéing, heat a large skillet over medium heat. Add a little oil and the squid rings. Cook for about 3-4 minutes on each side.

Once the squid is cooked, you'll need to serve it. There are many ways to do this, but we'll show you a few of our favorites.

One way to serve the squid is to toss it with a dressing. Another way is to serve it with a sauce. We'll show you how to do both.

With a zing and a twist
This flavorful dish has to be treated with respect.

Ingredients
1 lb. squid, cleaned and cut into rings
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup white wine vinegar
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup hot sauce
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1/2 cup red pepper, chopped
1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
1/2 cup purple pepper, chopped
1/2 cup blue pepper, chopped

Directions
1. In a large bowl, combine the squid rings with the marinade ingredients. Let it sit for at least 30 minutes.
